

The Leadership Challenge: Driving Results

Program Overview

Leadership is learnable, measurable and teachable! Evidence-based leadership research often holds the key to assisting us in getting the results we need. However, the struggle for many managers is having the time to evaluate the evidence and develop it into strategies that are realistic and practical. In this program, MHEI does that work for you. Based on the classic research of Kouzes and Posner, this program distills the practice of results-oriented leadership down to a handful of workable strategies applicable to any health care setting.

Program Objectives

1. Analyze leadership actions that will enable others to reach organizational and departmental goals
2. Recognize when and how to challenge the status quo as a means of process improvement
3. Identify role modeling behavior that encourages accountability and results
4. Apply leadership strategies to a current organizational challenge

About the Speakers

Katrina Coleman, RN, MSN, develops customized training and consulting services based on the organization's identified needs. She has over 20 years experience in healthcare serving in the beginning of her career as a registered nurse in pediatrics, med/surg, and home health. For the past 15 years, she has focused on making a difference in health care by developing the leadership skills of senior leaders, directors, managers, supervisors and staff nurses.

Lyndley O'Dell, MS is a healthcare human resources professional with experience in various aspects of HR including talent acquisition, onboarding, employee engagement, employee relations, performance management and organizational development. Lyndley worked for hospitals in health systems and has firsthand experience partnering with leaders and recruiting for clinical and non-clinical, tough to fill roles. Lyndley understands the challenges specific to healthcare recruitment and builds collaborative relationships to understand, work through and conquer those challenges.

This educational activity is jointly provided by AXIS Medical Education and MHEI.
