

Re-Recruiting Your "A" Team

Program Overview

Take a moment to think about your highest performing nurses and clinical staff that make up your "A" team. Now think about your reaction if any one of them came to you with their resignation in hand. Proactively identifying and implementing strategies to re-recruit and retain your "A" team can prevent you from experiencing this unfortunate scenario firsthand. Nurse turnover can impact patient satisfaction, patient engagement and overall patient outcomes. Research and best practices from organizations like The Studer Group and The Advisory Board Company support and promote the need for nurse leaders to make a significant investment in high performing nurses and clinical staff. In this interactive skill-building session, you will learn and practice simple yet valuable tools and techniques for keeping your "A" team intact.

Program Objectives

1. Identify the nurse manager's role in retaining high performing nurses and clinical staff
2. Evaluate research and strategies on nurse engagement and retention
3. Review effective tools and techniques to retain high performers
4. Design an action plan for re-recruiting your "A" team

About the Speaker

Lyndley O'Dell, MS is a healthcare human resources professional with experience in various aspects of HR including talent acquisition, onboarding, employee engagement, employee relations, performance management and organizational development.
