Program Overview

The surveys for 2020-2021 have been early based on Medicare's desire to surprise healthcare organizations. Continuous readiness becomes a must in this environment. Let Judith M. Atkins, RN, MSN share with you feedback and implications for Infection Practitioners and their staff and Committee Members. You will gain an understanding of The Joint Commission, Centers for Medicare/Medicaid Services, and Center for Disease Control's approach to Infection Control and Prevention.

Program Objectives

1. Describe the 2021 Joint Commission Infection Prevention and Control process for surveys.
2. List the steps in the survey process for CMS and CDC in 2020/2021.
3. Describe The Joint Commission's virtual survey format.
4. List new implications for Operative and Invasive Procedural Areas.
5. List the top two findings for TJC, CMS, and CDC.

About the Speaker

Judith M. Atkins, RN, MSN, President and CEO
McKenna Consulting

Judith has over 20 years of experience as a public speaker and consultant to health care professionals. Hundreds of healthcare organizations, nationally and internationally, have participated in the McKenna System while preparing for a Joint Commission review. These healthcare organizations have done well in the area of compliance with The Joint Commission and Centers for Medicare and Medicaid.
