Program Overview

Clinicians and other healthcare workers serve sexual and gender minority people every day, but adequate preparation about supporting these populations is rarely offered professional training. Using a Cultural Humility framework, this workshop provides a broad overview of LGBTQ+ terms, gender identity concepts, cultural beliefs, health disparities, and barriers to accessing services, as well as best practice strategies for creating an affirming care experience.

Program Objectives

- Identify developmental, structural, family systems, & psychosocial challenges sexual and gender minority people may encounter.
- Explore intersectional identities, disparate risk factors within the LGBTQ community, and the impacts of minority stress; apply the principles of Cultural Humility and Structural Competence to LGBTQ healthcare.
- Recognize gender identity concepts & terms, including transgender & nonbinary identities, using appropriate pronouns, respectful language & etiquette.
- Increase tools and skills to be an ally to LGBTQ patients, colleagues, friends and family

About the Speaker

Kate Bishop, Education Coordinator at the Center for LGBTQ Health Equity of Chase Brexton Health Care, is a seasoned professional development trainer with expertise in working with LGBTQ populations, gender affirming care, sexual and reproductive health, trauma-responsive treatment practices, and harm reduction prevention strategies. A frequently requested keynote speaker, national subject matter expert, and panelist, she is certified as a trainer through GLSEN (Gay, Lesbian, and Straight Education Network) and SAGE (Services and Advocacy for GLBT Elders). Ms. Bishop holds a Bachelor of Arts in Gender Studies from Hiram College & a Master's in Social Work from Case Western Reserve University.
