Broadly speaking, there are four types of diversity: internal, external, organizational, and worldview. One of the key competencies of exemplary leaders is the ability to lead a diverse group of frontline staff and help staff to think and act more inclusively. This program will examine your own individual leadership behavior and communication style, characteristics of highly functional and dysfunctional teams, as well as strategies to build a more inclusive leadership style.

Program Objectives

1. Examine your individual DiSC behavioral and communication style
2. Recognize the 5 Dysfunctions of Teams
3. Identify strategies to positively impact diversity, inclusion, equity and generational gaps
