MHEI VIRTUAL TRAINING

Developing Critical Thinking Skills in Nurses

WHERE

Virtual Training on Zoom

WHEN

October 18, 2024 12:00 pm - 1:00 pm

PROGRAM FEE

Complimentary for MHEI Members

REGISTER

To register, please visit MHELorg.

Questions? Contact Kelly Yost, Manager of Programs & Membership: 410.796.6239 kyost@mhei.org

REGISTER NOW

Target Audience:

Nurse Leaders, Charge Nurses, Resource Nurses, Nurse Educators and anyone who is involved in the orientation and onboarding of nurses.

Program Overview:

Critical thinking is a vital skill for nurses to evaluate information, solve problems, and make decisions based on evidence and impartial analysis. Critical thinking helps nurses provide the best care for their patients and it is a skill that can be developed by new and experienced nurses in any area of nursing. By enhancing these skills, nurses will be better equipped to navigate the challenges of the profession. This FREE virtual session for MHEI Members will provide practical exercises to support fostering the development of critical thinking, improving clinical judgment, and promoting evidence-based practice.

Objectives:

Provide tools for nurses to use to assist peers in the development of critical thinking skills including:

- · Strengthening the skills necessary to make sound clinical decisions based on evidence-based practice
- · Improving the ability to articulate clinical reasoning and decisions clearly
- Enhancing the skill of prioritizing patient care and managing complex situations effectively

About the Facilitators:

Barbara Jacobs, BSN, MSN, Nurse Executive

Katrina Coleman, BSN, MSN Leadership and Engagement Strategist

